

Important notice for exhibitors

Read carefully

Dear exhibitors,

You might be contacted by companies advertising their products and services using the names of our event and ICM d.o.o. without authorization. These offers falsely create the impression of official cooperation with ICM d.o.o. , although no such arrangements exist. The data in these offers may have been copied from generally accessible sources (e.g., online list of exhibitors, event online catalog).

Several exhibitors have received a request for data confirmation for a free publication within online catalogs. The forms sent include the name of our exhibition and are real contacts. In their footnote, information on fees is provided in tiny letters. After signing them, you will be asked to pay the amount of 1000 € (or more) every year.

Currently, exhibitors receive offers for alleged visitor address directories, including company names and full personal contact details. Please ignore and classify such emails as spam. We can't share information on the visitors to our events in accordance with the data protection regulations. Upon request, exhibitors may receive information only on the visitors who have registered with their company name.

We would like to point out that ICM d.o.o. is not connected to
